

NEWS ALERT

Cortec's CorroLogic Brochure Featured In Free Literature Section of Process Coolings March Issue!

Cortec has published CorroLogic, a new brochure summarizing the blueprint of its innovative VpCI corrosion inhibitor processes. This brochure provides the platform to showcase the range of systems, services, and products developed for custom engineering corrosion solutions for many applications and environments. It is a real asset, creating the opportunity for our partners to better understand what Cortec can do to mitigate corrosion obstacles across a wide range of industries.
