Cortec® European Sales Office is moving to a new advanced location!

It is our pleasure to announce that our Cortec® European Sales office is moving to a new location. As of next week we will be located at Technology Transfer Center, Croatia's most developed technological and engineering facility. This spacious new office will enable us to provide even better services to our clients. Close vicinity of the Faculty of Mechanical Engineering and Naval Architecture will enable more efficient technical support and consultancy with experts in the corrosion prevention field, with whom Cortec has been successfully cooperating for over a decade. Regarding these positive changes and progress of our company we are looking forward to all our future challenges.

Our new address:

*Cortec European Sales Office
